

Author Guidelines and Submission Instructions

General Information

Methodist Review, a peer-reviewed scholarly electronic journal, is sponsored by the Candler School of Theology, Emory University; the Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University; the Association of United Methodist Theological Schools; and the General Board of Higher Education and Ministry of The United Methodist Church. Intended specifically for and primarily focused on an academic audience that is global in scope, Methodist Review is open to scholarly works of article length in all areas and all eras of Wesleyan and Methodist studies broadly construed, including biblical, theological, ethical, philosophical, practical, historical, biographical, and social-scientific topics and methodologies.

Methodist Review has an open submission policy: authors are invited to submit the full text of articles on any appropriate subject to be considered for publication. The instructions for manuscript preparation and submission given here must be followed as closely as possible in all cases. The guidelines about matters of style and usage provided here represent the considered preferences of the journal editors. They should be understood as recommendations, not as absolute requirements, but authors are strongly encouraged to follow them carefully unless there is a compelling reason to do otherwise in particular cases.

General Submission Instructions

- (1) All articles submitted to Methodist Review (MR) are expected to conform to the following instructions. If a submission departs from these instructions in major ways, it will be returned to the author for correction before it is considered for publication.
- (2) Authors may submit only one article at a time for consideration by MR. An article being submitted to MR must not be submitted simultaneously to another journal. Articles that have been published or are to be published elsewhere in their entirety, whether in English or in another language, should not be submitted to MR. If any portion of an article has been previously published elsewhere, the author must specify the full extent and details of that previous publication and provide copyright clearance for its publication in MR (for these matters, see the MR Copyright, "Fair Use," and Permissions Guidelines).
- (3) The MS of each article must be submitted electronically as a Microsoft Word, WordPerfect, or RTF text file in what the author intends as its final form.
- (4) Each article should be accompanied by an abstract which is not to exceed 150 words.

- (5) Authors are requested to provide the following information with their submissions:
- Author contact information—name, title/rank, institutional affiliation, preferred postal address, email address, phone and fax numbers.
 - The title (and subtitle, if any) of the article being submitted.
 - An abstract of the article which is not to exceed 150 words.
 - The actual text file(s) of the article (in Microsoft Word, WordPerfect, or RTF text file form), along with any related supplementary files.
 - If the article contains non-textual illustrations (photographs, charts, diagrams, etc.), consult with the MR Managing Editor about the appropriate forms of submission in advance.
- (6) Because all submissions to MR will be subject to blind peer review, neither the abstract nor the article (including the footnotes) should contain any information that would enable a reviewer to discern the identity of the author.
- Authors should delete their names from the main text and all notes, with “Author” and year used in the references and footnotes, instead of the authors’ name, article title, etc.
 - Authors should take the following steps to remove personal information from the submission file properties metadata:
 - Microsoft Word (MacOS)
 - ▣ Go to Tools
 - ▣ Click Protect Document
 - ▣ Select Remove personal information for this file on save
 - ▣ Click OK and save the file
 - Microsoft Word (Windows)
 - ▣ Go to File
 - ▣ Select Info
 - ▣ Click on Check for Issues
 - ▣ Click on Inspect Document
 - ▣ In the Document Inspector dialog box, select the check boxes to choose the type of hidden content that you want inspected.
 - ▣ Click Remove All
 - ▣ Click Close and save the file
 - WordPerfect (Windows):
 - ▣ Go to File
 - ▣ Select Save Without Metadata
 - ▣ Check the boxes for:
 - Comments
 - Hidden Text
 - Annotations
 - Document Summary Data
 - ▣ Save the file (will add “_mtd” to file name)
 - If this requirement poses what seems to be an unreasonable burden on an author in a particular case, the author should advise the MR editorial office of the problem prior to submission.

The Electronic Submission Process

Methodist Review uses an electronic submission process, which is outlined below. User registration on the MR website <http://www.methodistreview.org> is required in order to make a submission to the journal. If you have not previously done so, you must register and create a user profile, including your preferred username, password, and other required information. Under More User Details you are encouraged to provide a brief biographical statement about yourself.

After completing the registration process, you will be given the option to make a new submission to the journal, to edit your profile, or to continue browsing the journal website. If you anticipate making a submission to the journal, please click on Roles and ensure that the box beside Author is checked. When you have finished editing your profile, be sure to click the Save box. Note that your personal data is stored in accordance with our privacy policy.

To make a submission to the journal, click on the New Submission link in the sidebar or at a later time scroll to the bottom of the journal's home page and click on the Make a Submission link in the page footer. Doing either will let you begin the five-stage submission process. Simply follow the on-screen directions to complete the submission process.

Please contact the MR editorial office directly if you have questions or encounter a problem with any part of the electronic submission process. Contact information is found at the end of this document and on the MR website.

Preparation of the Electronic Manuscript

- (1) The MS should be designed to print on standard US letter size (8.5" x 11.0") or European A4 size (8.3" x 11.7") paper using Times Roman or a comparable standard 12-point serif font. Use 1-inch margins at the top, left, and right; the bottom margin may be $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch to accommodate page numbering. Use $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch paragraph indents (tab settings). All lines of the main text should be double-spaced. Notes and indented block quotations should be single-spaced. There should be no use of other unusual spacing.
- (2) Do not use numerous font changes or other elaborate formatting techniques, as these introduce codes into your text files that will only complicate the editing and production process on our end. Your goal should be to produce a MS that is as simple and clean as possible; do not try to achieve a typeset "look and feel" in the MS.
- (3) The MS should be consecutively paged throughout, with the page number appearing in the bottom center of each page. The use of running headers with the brief title of the article is permissible if desired but not necessary; if used, the running headers should not include the author's name.
- (4) Keep all body text flush left. Do not justify body text so that the right margin is even (as in this document); allow the text to break naturally, even if this results in very ragged right margins in the MS. The use of manual or "hard" hyphens should be avoided, unless the hyphen is part of the spelling of compound nouns (e.g., scholar-poet), compound adjectives (e.g., up-to-date study), or compound expressions (e.g., Luke-Acts). Use of the automatic hyphenation feature of a standard word processing program is acceptable.

- (5) All subheads should be flush left, not centered or indented, with an extra line of spacing above them. Use a consistent system to indicate the various levels of subheads in your MS, such as the following:

First-level Subheads: bold	[or]	FIRST-LEVEL SUBHEADS: SMALL CAPS
Second-level Subheads: bold italic		Second-level Subheads: bold
Third-level Subheads: italic (only)		Third-level Subheads: bold italic
		Fourth-level Subheads: italic (only)

- (6) Words to appear in the final published article in italics (e.g., titles of books and periodicals, foreign words, etc.) or in small caps (e.g., BCE, CE, MS, MSS) should appear in that fashion in the MS.
- (7) Special material (e.g., photographs, lists, tables, charts, diagrams) may be submitted in supplementary electronic files that are separate from the main text file; however, the location of such material should be indicated clearly in the main text (e.g., “insert chart 1 here”). Photographs should be submitted in the form of uncompressed JPG or TIF files. Photographs, charts, diagrams, or tabular material of a complex nature may be submitted in camera-ready form instead of electronically, but only by prior arrangement with the MR editorial office.
- (8) Use only one space character between words and sentences. Never use a string of space characters to make textual elements align in the MS; use tabs instead. If your MS requires tables, use columns or tab settings to align the elements of the tables rather than manual spaces.
- (9) Do not use manual or “hard” returns at the end of lines of normal body text. Manual or “hard” returns should be used only at the end of full paragraphs of body text, and after MS elements such as subheads, block quotations, etc.
- (10) Quotations of five or more lines in any language should be reproduced in a separate indented paragraph (or paragraphs), without opening and closing quotation marks.
- (11) Respect for accuracy in verbatim quotations demands that the spelling, capitalization, punctuation, etc., of the original be reproduced exactly, even if they differ from the style otherwise preferred by MR. Should a quotation contain a factual or grammatical error, this may be indicated by [sic] or [?], at the author’s discretion.

Footnotes

- (1) Footnotes rather than endnotes should be used in all articles submitted to MR. The footnotes should be numbered sequentially throughout the MS. Do not use complicated formatting, such as font changes, in the footnotes; use the same font for both the body text and the footnotes. The footnotes should be numbered consecutively throughout an article.

No period is to be placed after the number at the beginning of the text of the footnote itself.

- (2) Insofar as possible, footnote numbers should occur at the end of sentences of the body text. Multiple footnotes within one sentence should be avoided. For example, when several names occur in one sentence and a bibliographical reference is to be given for each, only one footnote should be used (not a separate footnote for each name). This footnote should be placed at the end of the sentence and should include the pertinent reference for each name.
- (3) A raised arabic numeral (without punctuation or parentheses) should follow the appropriate word in the text (and its punctuation, if any) to call attention to the footnote.
- (4) When a footnote comments on an issue and includes a bibliographical reference within a sentence, the bibliographic reference should be set entirely within parentheses, not commas, and if possible placed at the end of the sentence in the footnote. Example:

²³On the other hand, Charles C. Torrey thinks that the name “Cyrus” has been interpolated in Isa 45:1 (“The Messiah Son of Ephraim,” JBL 66 [1947]: 253).

General Styling and Usage

- (1) Save for the specific instructions given below, the styling directives of The Chicago Manual of Style, 17th edition (Chicago & London: University of Chicago Press, 2017) should be followed (hereinafter referred to as CMS).
- (2) MR uses the American style of spelling rather than the British style; e.g., “color” rather than “colour.” The preferred authorities on spelling are Merriam-Webster’s New Collegiate Dictionary, 10th edition (Springfield, MA: Merriam-Webster, 1993) and Webster’s Third New International Dictionary of the English Language, Unabridged (Springfield, MA: G. and C. Merriam, 1967). When there is more than one common way of spelling a word, the first one listed in these authorities should be used.
- (3) Apart from direct quotations from other sources, MR strongly recommends that authors refrain from using the term “man” generically (including also “men,” “mankind,” “family of man,” “brotherhood of man,” etc.). Instead, MR recommends the use of inclusive terms (e.g., “human being,” “human,” “human-kind,” “humanity,” “people,” etc.) to designate individuals and groups. Moreover, translations of texts (whether ancient or modern) should not be more gender-specific than the original texts, and the use of inclusive language for God is strongly encouraged.
- (4) MR follows the recommendations of CMS for all general abbreviations. For abbreviations of the books of the Bible, MR will accept either the CMS style or the style of The SBL Handbook of Style for Biblical Studies and Related Disciplines, 2nd ed. (Atlanta: SBL Press, 2014), which is preferred by most biblical scholars, so long as one style is used consistently throughout the MS.

- (5) MR recommends use of the abbreviations BCE (“before the common era”) and CE (“in the common era”), rather than BC “before Christ” and AD (anno Domini, “in the year of the Lord”), to designate historical eras, but will follow an author’s preferences in this regard. In either case, the abbreviations should be in small caps with no periods.
- (6) In general, MR follows CMS for capitalization of names, titles, and positions. However, contrary to CMS, MR prefers to capitalize all academic titles directly following a person’s name, rather than only those titles that themselves contain a proper name (e.g., named chairs). Examples:

David Green, Franklin N. Parker Professor of Old Testament
 Sally Smith, Associate Professor of Systematic Theology
 [but: She serves as associate professor of systematic theology]
 Dr. Ellen Jones, Dean of the Candler School of Theology; Dean Jones
 Dr. James Johnson, President of the Emory University; President Johnson
 [but: the president of the university, James Johnson]

- (7) MR follows CMS in the capitalization of the names of ethnic and national groups and terms that relate to sexual orientation and gender identity. Examples:

African Americans [NB: without a hyphen]
 American Indian tribes Asians
 the British; a British woman
 Chicanos; a Chicano; a Chicana
 Europeans
 Hispanics; a Hispanic
 Italian Americans
 Jews; a Jew; Jewish ethnicity Native Americans
 lesbians; lesbian history gay men; gays
 transgender men; transgender women

- (8) MR follows CMS in recommending that designations of groups of people based loosely on human skin color should generally be lower-cased unless they are part of a group’s formal name or self-identification, or an author has an otherwise compelling reason to capitalize them. Examples:

black people; blacks; a black separatist movement [but: Negro, Negroes]
 the Black Power movement; the Black College Fund brown-skinned people [but: the Washington Redskins] white people; whites; white supremacist group [but: Caucasian, Caucasians]
 the White Panther Party; the White Citizens’ Council

- (9) MR prefers to follow the usage of The SBL Handbook of Style, pp. 37–52, in the capitalization of biblical and related terms. Note the following recommendations for capitalization of words referring or relating to God or Jesus:

Adonai	Jehovah
Allah	Jesus and his disciples*
the Almighty	King
the Babe	kingdom of God
Christ	Lamb of God
the Christ Child	Logos
the Creator	Lord
El	the Messiah
Father	Savior
God Almighty	the Son of God
Godhead	the Spirit [the Holy Spirit]
God in his mercy*	the spirit [the human spirit]
heavenly Father	Trinity
Holy Ghost	trinitarian
Holy Spirit	Yahweh

MR* prefers to lowercase personal pronouns referring to God and Jesus, but if an author insists on capping them, we will let it stand. The most important thing is consistency throughout the MS.

- (10) Note the following recommendations for capitalization for derivatives of Christ, God, and related terms:

Christendom	godliness
the Christ-event	godly
Christian	God's omnipotence
Christianity	Jesus' lordship
Christ-like	Messiah
christological	messianic hope
Christology	non-Christian
the fatherhood of God	the Trinity; trinitarian
godlike	unchristian

- (11) MR recommends always capping the following or similar expressions when used as a title or as a euphemism for God or Jesus:

the Eternal	the Holy One
the First Cause	the King of Kings
the Good Shepherd	the Lord of Lords
the Most High	the Prince of Peace
the Omnipotent	the Supreme Being

- (12) MR recommends the following style of capitalization for names of the Bible, synonyms for the Bible, or versions of the Bible:

the Bible [but: biblical]	the King James Version
the Christian scriptures	the New Revised Standard Version
Codex Sinaiticus	Peshitta

God's Word	the scriptures; scriptural [general reference]
the Hebrew scriptures	the Septuagint
the Holy Bible	the Torah
Holy Scripture [as title]	the Vulgate
Holy Writ [sometimes satirical]	the Word of God

(13) MR recommends the following style of capitalization for parts of the Bible:

Apocrypha	Matthean [writings]
the Bible [but: biblical]	the miracle of the loaves and fishes
book of Genesis, etc.	the Old Testament
the Decalogue	the parable of the good Samaritan
the Epistles	the parable of the prodigal son
the Epistle to the Hebrews	the Pastoral Epistles
Fourth Gospel	Paul's Letters
Golden Rule	the Prophets [part of the OT]
the good news	the prophet Isaiah
the gospel [of Christ]	the Psalms [but: a psalm; the psalmist]
the Gospels [in the NT]	the Psalter
the Gospel of John	the Pseudepigrapha
Johannine [writings]	the Second Gospel
the Last Supper	the Sermon on the Mount
the Letter to the Galatians	the Shema
the Lord's Prayer	the Ten Commandments
the Lord's Supper	the Wisdom literature
Lukan [writings]	the Writings

(14) MR recommends the following style of capitalization for biblical doctrines or historical events:

the Ascension	the Flood
the Atonement	the Incarnation
the Creation	the Inquisition
the Crucifixion	the Protestant Reformation
the Diaspora	the resurrected Christ
the Exile	the Resurrection
the exiled Israelites	the resurrection of Christ
the Exodus	the risen Christ
the Fall [of humanity]	the Second Coming

(15) MR recommends the following style of capitalization for proper names and titles in the Bible:

the Apostle of Love [John]	John the Baptist
the apostle Paul	the king
the Baptist	King Herod
the Beloved Apostle	the Pharisees; Pharisaic
the Evangelist	Pharaoh [as title: Pharaoh Rameses II]

Gentiles	the pharaoh
the good Samaritan	the Sadducees
Hebrews	scribes
Israelites	the Twelve

- (16) MR recommends the following style of capitalization for other Jewish and Christian terms (note that the word church is capitalized only when it is used in the proper name of a denomination or of a specific church building):

the apostles; apostolic church	the Kingdom
baptism [general]	the kingdom of God
the bishop [but: Bishop Sheen]	Pentecost [event]; pentecostal [general];
the Blessed Virgin	Pentecostal [movement]
Body of Christ	the pope; papal [general]; Pope John Paul II
charismatic [general]	postexilic
Charismatic [movement]	the primitive church
Christian church [universal]	Primitive Baptist Church [denom. name]
Christian Church [denom. name]	Protestant Reformation
Christian education	a sacrament; the sacraments
the church universal	the Sacrament of Baptism
Communion; Holy Communion	the Sanhedrin
the congregation	seminary [but: Wesley Theological Seminary]
the early church	the sister [but: Sister Mary Margaret] evangelical [general]	the Social Gospel
Evangelical [movement]	Sunday school
Fundamentalism [movement]	synagogue
the Golden Rule	the Temple [in Jerusalem]
the Great Commandment	the Virgin Mary

United Methodist Terminology and Usage

- (1) Do not use The Book of Discipline of The United Methodist Church as an authority on capitalization—it should never be treated as a style sheet or usage guide.
- (2) Always capitalize the definite article The in The United Methodist Church when referring to the proper name of the denomination. Capitalize the names of predecessor bodies (The Methodist Episcopal Church, The Evangelical United Brethren) according to the same style. Abbreviations such as UMC do not take a capitalized the. Examples:

The United Methodist Church [name of the denomination]
 [but: the United Methodist tradition; the United Methodist position on . . .] the United Methodist church on Oak Street [general reference] Epworth United Methodist Church [particular church or congregation]
 Glenn Memorial UMC; the UMC

- (3) Capitalize the names of general boards and agencies of The United Methodist Church and their departments, divisions, and sections; general councils; general commissions; and committees created by the General Conference and serving The United Methodist Church as a whole. Lowercase the names of local church, district, annual conference, and jurisdictional units unless they are used as part of a proper name. When boards, commissions, or councils serving The United Methodist Church as a whole have the word General as a part of their official title, it should be capitalized. Examples:

annual conference [but: the Rocky Mountain Annual Conference] area [but: the Baltimore Area] bishop [but: Bishop Ken Carter] central conference [but: the West Africa Central Conference] charge conference [but: the Greenwood Charge Conference] church council [but: the Druid Hills UMC Church Council] College of Bishops [jurisdictional] conference board of evangelism [but: the Texas Conference Board of Evangelism] the Connectional Table; the Table [in subsequent references]
the Council of Bishops [churchwide] Curriculum Resources Committee district [but: the Knoxville District] general secretary [but: Steve Smith, General Secretary of . . .]
General Conference
General Board of Global Ministries
General Commission on Religion and Race
General Council on Finance and Administration Judicial Council [but: the council decided . . .] jurisdiction; jurisdictional [but: the Southeastern Jurisdiction]
the United Methodist Committee on Relief
the Women's Division
the World Methodist Council; the World Methodist Conference

- (4) Capitalize the titles of official documents or publications of The United Methodist Church in either full or shortened forms. Examples:

The Book of Discipline of The United Methodist Church; the Book of Discipline; the 1996 Discipline; the Discipline [but: “the Methodist discipline” if not referring to the volume]
The United Methodist Hymnal; the Hymnal
The Book of Resolutions of The United Methodist Church; the Book of Resolu- tions
The Book of Worship of The United Methodist Church; the Book of Worship
the Constitution of The United Methodist Church; the General Rules; the Articles of Religion; Article II
The Social Creed; “Our Social Creed” [with quotation marks when referring to the section of the Discipline in which the Creed appears]; our Social Principles; the Social Principles statement the Supplement to the Book of Hymns

- (5) Capitalize names of official funds and organizations authorized by General Conference. Examples:

Advance Specials
Africa University Fund
Black College Fund
the Episcopal Fund
Interdenominational Cooperation Fund
Ministerial Education Fund
Ministers Reserve Pension Fund [NB: no apostrophe] missional priority [NB: lowercase]
Missions Initiatives Fund
United Methodist Children's Fund for Christian Mission
United Methodist Women
United Methodist Youth Organization
University Senate
Wesley Foundation
World Service Fund; World Service [general benevolences]; World Service Special; World Service agencies
Youth Service Fund

- (6) Capitalize only proper names relating to the program of Christian education. Lowercase classes, departments, divisions, and councils of the church school unless a proper name is given. Examples:

the adult class [but: the Good Will Bible Class]
Christian Educators Fellowship (CEF) church school [but: the Peachtree Road UMC Church School program] coordinator of children's ministries; children's coordinator; children's council school of mission [but: the West Ohio Conference School of Mission] Sunday school; Sunday school class vacation Bible school (but: VBS as initials, capped)

- (7) Capitalize the names of special days and weeks authorized by the General Conference as in the examples below; see the Discipline for others:

Christian Education Sunday
Disability Awareness Sunday
Golden Cross Sunday
Heritage Sunday
Human Relations Day
Native American Awareness Sunday
One Great Hour of Sharing Rural Life Sunday
United Methodist Student Day
World Communion Sunday

- (8) Lowercase the titles of all positions related to the church when they are used alone or separately, whether or not in conjunction with a personal name, but capitalize them when they directly precede a personal name or are part of a compound title directly following a personal name. Examples:

bishop; Sally White, our bishop [but: Bishop Sally White; Sally White, Bishop of the Atlanta Area] chaplain [but: Chaplain Peterson] conference coordinator of youth ministry deacon; deaconess director of Christian education
the district superintendent; James Jones, our district superintendent [but: James Jones, Superintendent of the Knoxville District] district coordinator of children's ministries elder executive secretary lay leader
local pastor, pastor [but: Pastor Brown]

The Writings of John and Charles Wesley

Wherever possible, reference to the writings of John Wesley should be made to The Bicentennial Edition of the Works of John Wesley (Nashville: Abingdon Press, 1984—), begun as The Oxford Edition of the Works of John Wesley (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1975–1983). In particular, all references to Wesley's Journal or Sermons should now be made to the Bicentennial Edition. If a particular Wesley text is not yet available in a volume of the Bicentennial Edition, other older editions or his writings may be used.

No single system of references or abbreviations will be equally suitable to all situations. Authors are therefore invited to adapt the system of abbreviations suggested below to the requirements of their particular projects, adding other abbreviations as needed and altering the details of publication to reflect the editions of particular works which they are using (e.g., the Hendrickson or Zondervan reprints of Works (Jackson) rather than the Baker Book House reprint), so long as consistency is maintained throughout a MS. When such adaptation is necessary, however, authors should observe the following general principles.

Sermons — References should include the sermon number according to the system used in vols. 1–4 of Works, the full sermon title (the short title in subsequent references), the internal section number(s), the edition used, and the volume/page number(s). In Works, the titles of sermons that first appeared as separate publications are given in italics to distinguish them from sermons that were first published in other works (e.g., in the Arminian Magazine). For the purposes of MR, however, this distinction should be ignored and the titles of all sermons given in quotation marks. It is helpful though not absolutely necessary to provide the dates of sermons unless the dates are relevant to a particular point or issue under discussion.

Journal and Diary Entries — References should include the date of a journal or diary entry, the internal section number(s) (if applicable) of the entry being cited, the edition used [now normally vols. 18–24 of Works, rather than the older Curnock edition], and the volume/page number(s).

Letters — References should include an indication of the direction of the letters with the names of the correspondents (e.g., “Letter from John Wesley to Alexander Knox” or “Letter from Charles Wesley to John Wesley”), the date of the letter, the internal section number(s) (if applicable) of the letter being cited, the edition used, and the volume/page number(s).

Other Prose Works — References should include the full title of the work being cited (use the short title in subsequent references), the internal section number(s) (if applicable), the edition used, and the volume/page number(s). Titles of shorter works (e.g., “The Principles of a Methodist”) should normally be given in quotation marks; titles of longer works (e.g., A Plain Account of Christian Perfection) should be given in italics. Dates are usually unnecessary. Citations of the Explanatory Notes Upon the Old Testament and the Explanatory Notes Upon the New Testament should be made by biblical book, chapter, and verse, since most editions of these works are not paginated.

Hymns and Other Verse — References should include the title or first line of the hymn or poem if its identity is not made clear in the main text, the hymn or poem number (if applicable), the line or verse numbers of the section cited, the title of the work and/or the edition used, and the volume/page number(s). Hymns included in the 1780 Collection of Hymns for the Use of the People Called Methodists should be cited from the edition in Works, Vol. 7. Other hymns should be cited by reference to The Poetical Works of John and Charles Wesley, ed. George Osborn, 13 vols. (London: Wesleyan-Methodist Conference, 1868–72), or to The Unpublished Poetry of Charles Wesley, ed. S T Kimbrough Jr. and Oliver A. Beckerlegge, 3 vols. (Nashville: Kingswood Books, 1988–92), or (preferably) to the original printed versions, most of which have now been made available on the website of the Duke Center for Studies in the Wesleyan Tradition: <https://divinity.duke.edu/initiatives/cswt/>.

Dates — MR prefers to use the day-month-year form of dates (e.g., 24 May 1738) for scholarly references but the older form of month-day-year, with the year set off by commas (e.g., May 24, 1738), is acceptable. In either case the name of the month should be given in full, rather than abbreviated, and the usage must be consistent throughout the MS. Indicate “old style” dates, where relevant, with the slash (e.g., 1711/12).

Recommended Abbreviations — Since each article in MR constitutes a separate, complete publication, full and complete bibliographic information should be given at the first citation of any work used, with short titles or abbreviations used in subsequent references. The following is a list of abbreviations that MR recommends for subsequent references to the indicated standard works.

AM [MM, WMW]	The Arminian Magazine (1778–97), continued as The Methodist Magazine (1798–1821) and subsequently as The Wesleyan Methodist Magazine (1822–1913).
Appeals	John Wesley, The Appeals to Men of Reason and Religion, and Certain Related Open Letters , ed. Gerald R. Cragg, Vol. 7 in The Works of John Wesley (Nashville: Abingdon Press, 1989).

- Chr. Library* John Wesley, A Christian Library: Consisting of Extracts from, and Abridgements of, the Choicest Pieces of Practical Divinity which have been Published in the English Tongue, 50 vols. (Bristol: F. Farley, 1749–55); reprinted in 30 vols. (London: T. Cordeux, 1819–27).
- Hymns* John and Charles Wesley, A Collection of Hymns for the Use of the People Called Methodists, ed. Franz Hildebrandt and Oliver A. Beckerlegge, Vol. 7 in The Works of John Wesley (Nashville: Abingdon Press, 1989).

Other Wesleyan and Methodist Literature

For further guidance in Wesleyan and Methodist literature, see United Methodist Studies: Basic Bibliographies, 5th ed., compiled and edited by Christopher J. Anderson and Kenneth E. Rowe (Nashville: General Board of Higher Education and Ministry, UMC, 2009), which can be found online here: www.drew.edu/wp-content/uploads/sites/70/UM_Biblio_5th_ed.pdf.

Other Bibliographical References, Notes, and Citations

- (1) All bibliographic references, notes, and citations should follow the recommendations of CMS except as otherwise noted in this document. Full and complete bibliographic information should be given at the first citation of any work used, with short titles or abbreviations used in subsequent references.
- (2) When a volume number and page numbers come together in a citation, the abbreviations vol. and p. (pp.) are omitted and a colon separates the numbers, although vol. is used when the volume number stands alone in a citation. A comma should not be used after an abbreviation (or short title) when it is directly followed by a volume number and page number(s). A comma should be used when only page numbers follow an abbreviation (or short title). Examples:

Sermon 127, "On the Wedding Garment," Works 4:139–48.
 Luke L. Tyerman, The Life and Times of the Rev. John Wesley, M.A., 3 vols. (London: Hodder & Stoughton, 1870), 3:17–39.
 Tyerman, The Life and Times of John Wesley 3:17–39.
 Southey, The Life of Wesley, vol. 2.
 Heitzenrater, Wesley and the People Called Methodists, 106–24.

- (3) In the citation of journal articles, a space should be used after the colon following the date. Examples:

Frank Baker, "John Wesley and Practical Divinity," Wesleyan Theological Journal 22/1 (1987): 7–15, Ted A. Campbell, "Christian Tradition, John Wesley, and Evangelicalism," Anglican Theological Review 74/1 (Winter 1992): 54–76.

- (4) Use v. (vv.), and p. (pp.) only when they are needed to avoid ambiguity. Use "line(s)" instead of l. (ll.) to avoid typographic confusion. Examples:

Rep. Verse, #139, vv. 5–12, p. 193.

“Hymns on the Trinity,” #109, lines 1–12, Poet. Works 7:280.

- (5) The use of f. (ff.), as in the first example below, is discouraged; the use of inclusive page numbers, as in the second example below, is generally preferable:

Maddox, Responsible Grace, 182 ff.

Maddox, Responsible Grace, 182–99.

- (6) The proper form for inclusive page numbers is illustrated by the following sequences: 3–17, 33–36, 100–103, 104–7, 109–12, 124–28, 192–229, 200–207, 209–36, 312–27.

- (7) Any use of n. (nn.) in a citation should be preceded by the page on which the note appears, and there should be a space after the period of the abbreviation. Examples:

Rack, Reasonable Enthusiast, 145–57, 581 n. 51 [an endnote].

Tyerman, The Life and Times of John Wesley 3:129 nn. 23 and 24 [footnotes].

- (8) MR generally discourages use of “scholarly” Latin terms or abbreviations such as q.v., s.l., et seq., supra, infra, passim, and the like; when used, they should be in roman type, not in italics. In particular, avoid the use of op. cit. and loc. cit.; instead, use the abbreviation or short title of the work cited with the volume/page numbers. Do not use idem; instead, repeat the author’s last name, using initials or first name if necessary (e.g., to distinguish two authors named Smith), with the short title.

- (9) The abbreviation ibid. (which should not be italicized, and is capitalized only when it begins a note or sentence) takes the place of the author’s name, the title of the work, and as much of the following information as is identical to the note immediately preceding.

- (10) Be careful not to confuse i.e. (id est, “that is”) with e.g. (exempli gratia, “for example”). Do not use cf. (confer, “compare”) as a synonym for “see” or “see also”; the former implies a specific textual comparison or parallel, the latter a more general reference.

- (11) MR prefers to use the day-month-year form of dates (e.g., 24 May 1738) for scholarly references but the older form of month-day-year, with the year set off by commas (e.g., May 24, 1738), is acceptable. In either case the name of the month should generally be given in full, not abbreviated, and the usage must be consistent throughout the MS.

- (12) MR prefers to use the two-letter postal abbreviations for states, rather than the older forms of abbreviation; e.g., MA rather than Mass., CA rather than Calif., TN rather than Tenn.

Versions of the Bible

MR recommends that authors use the New Revised Standard Version (NRSV) of the Bible unless there is particular reason to use another version. Whenever another version is used, the use should be clearly indicated at each quotation by the standard abbreviations:

GNB	The Good News Bible: Today's English Version [NB: not TEV]
JB	The Jerusalem Bible
KJV	The King James Version of the Bible [NB: not italicized]
NASB	The New American Standard Bible
NEB	The New English Bible
NIV	The Holy Bible: New International Version
NJB	The New Jerusalem Bible
NRSV	The New Revised Standard Version of the Bible [NB: not italicized]
REB	The Revised English Bible
RSV	The Revised Standard Version of the Bible [NB: not italicized]

NB: If you prefer to use your own translation directly from the original Hebrew or Greek texts, please consult with the MR editorial office about ways to indicate this in your MS.

Foreign Languages, Ancient and Modern

- (1) Unless there is a particularly scholarly reason to the contrary, Hebrew, Aramaic, or Greek words or phrases should be transliterated. MR strongly recommends that authors use the transliteration systems given in The SBL Handbook of Style, §§5.1-9.
- (2) In certain circumstances authors may judge it necessary to reproduce Hebrew, Aramaic, or Greek words or phrases in the original characters. In such cases the unpointed consonantal text of Hebrew or Aramaic should normally be used. Greek words or phrases may be reproduced without accents or breathing marks if this does not affect their meaning in the context of the article.
- (3) To ensure proper font conversion from an author's text files to our typesetting system, MR very strongly encourages authors to use the biblical language fonts developed by the Society of Biblical Literature, which are available for free download here: <http://www.sbl-site.org/educational/biblicalfonts.aspx>.
 - Greek: use the SBL Greek font (or if necessary the legacy SP Ionic font)
 - Hebrew: use the SBL Hebrew font (or if necessary the legacy SP Tiberian font)
 - Coptic: use the legacy SP Achmim font
 - Syriac: use the legacy SP Edessa font
 - Transliteration: use the SBL BibLit font (or if necessary legacy SP Atlantis font)

Authors are requested to consult in advance with the MR editorial office about font issues involving other languages using non-roman characters, e.g. Ethiopic, Cyrillic, etc. We strongly prefer the use of OpenType fonts wherever possible.

- (4) An English translation should normally accompany at least the first use of any Hebrew, Aramaic, or Greek word or phrase, whether transliterated or in original characters. If the first use comes in a direct quotation and no translation is provided by the original, authors may wish to provide the translation in the footnote referencing the quotation.

- (5) MR recommends that authors provide English translations of Latin theological terms or expressions even if they are relatively common or well-known (e.g., cuius regio, eius religio; simul justis et peccator; fides caritate formata) to ensure that there is no confusion about their meaning on the part of readers.
- (6) MR recommends that authors provide English translations of quotations from works published in other languages (e.g., German, French, Spanish, etc.) as a courtesy to readers.
- (7) When important works first appearing in another language have been translated and published in English-language editions, MR recommends that authors use quotations from and provide citations to the published English translations.

Citations and Abbreviations of Ancient Texts

See The SBL Handbook of Style, §§8.1–8.3 for recommended forms of citation and abbreviation of texts from the ancient world.

Other Abbreviations and References

See CMS, pp. 571–616, supplemented by The SBL Handbook of Style, §8.4, for recommended forms of abbreviation of commonly used periodicals, reference works, and serials that are not specifically mentioned in this document. Titles not found in the lists in these works should be written out in full.
